Market Review

Fixed income markets started June strong with a continuation of the previous months rally. Investors bought on the expectation that economic activity was on its way to a successful reopening. By mid-month, markets wobbled as infection rates increased and the Fed warned the US economy may take a long time to recover. Once again, major central banks saved the day by announcing additional measures to support borrowers. The ECB increased its Pandemic Emergency Purchase Programme to a total of €1,350bn and the Fed started purchasing corporate bonds. Markets were also supported by vaccine hopes.

In this context, the 10Y Bund yield ended the month broadly stable at -0.45%. Peripheral bonds posted strong positive returns as spreads tightened (Spain -9 bps, Italy -21 bps, Greece -31 bps). Corporate bonds performed similarly (IG +0.98%, HY +1.85%) as spreads traded lower (iTraxx Main -6 bps, iTraxx Crossover -47 bps).

Portfolio Performance

The fund gained 1.75% in June. Both investment grade and high yield bonds posted strong returns. Most bonds traded higher, with the most performing ones ISS, Almagora, Diversey, Whirlpool, Dometic and Kernel. Altice and Accor bonds, as well as the USD, contributed negatively.

During June, we acquired several new issue bonds (Mohawk, Seb, Iqvia, SIG, VW Perp. and Eiffage). The USD exposure was reduced, while we initiated a long JPY position as a hedge position.

Market Outlook

Even if the risk of second wave is increasing and companies are expecting to post weak 2Q results, monetary and fiscal supports are likely to keep the situation under control. Vaccine hopes are also to support markets. As a consequence, we have maintained a balanced mix of investment grade and high yield bonds, with a moderate duration.
